The School Management Committee
Po Leung Kuk Chu Lee Yuet Wah Kindergarten-cum-nursery
66 Leighton Road, Causeway Bay, H.K.

Dear Members of the School Management Committee,

Heartfelt Thanks for the Support from PLK Chu Lee Yuet Wah Kindergarten

I am writing to express my deepest gratitude to the entire staff at Po Leung Kuk Chu Lee Yuet Wah Kindergarten-cum-nursery for the incredible support provided to my family, particularly through the "Occasional Child Care Service" during the summer holiday.

Although we do not attend the school regularly, the care and attention my daughters, Fung Mak Tung and Fung Pui Tung, received during the long holiday was truly exceptional. I want to express my heartfelt thanks to the Principal, the teachers, and all the staff members, especially Ms. Lai, Ms. Tang, Clerk Ms. Joey, and the workman. Their dedication and kindness have been a tremendous help to our family. As both my husband and I often work long hours, we were so relieved to know that our daughters were in such capable and nurturing hands. Your support allowed us to focus on our work, confident that our children were well cared for.

Even though our family only joined the school for a short time, we have been amazed at the positive changes in both of our daughters. My elder daughter Mak Tung, who previously refused to eat meat and vegetables, now surprises us by finishing all her meals at school. This change has brought much joy to our family. Additionally, our younger daughter Pui Tung, who had difficulty with her speech, has shown significant improvement and is now speaking much more confidently after the summer holiday. She has also made friend with the K3 students who always take care of her. We deeply appreciate the care and dedication of your team in helping them grow.

I can also see that the staff are full of love and care, always comforting the children when they are upset or refuse to sleep. It is heartwarming to see how they hug and soothe the kids with such tenderness, something we rarely see in other kindergartens. This level of affection and attention is truly special, and it reassures us that our daughters were in a loving environment during their time at the school. As a family, we would like to extend our very best wishes to all the staff at Po Leung Kuk Chu Lee Yuet Wah Kindergarten-cum-nursery. May you continue to touch the lives of many children and families with your warmth, dedication, and professionalism.

Once again, thank you for all the support and care provided to us. We feel incredibly fortunate to have been part of such a wonderful school community, even if only for a short time.

With warmest regards,

Jenny Tsang

Why children misbehaved?

When a child behaves inappropriately, parents often blame the child and his problem without thinking. However, parents should allow themselves to take a step back and think about it—"One key will not ring; two keys will jingle." Whether the people around him intentionally or unintentionally contributed to the child's inappropriate behaviour or if the child took control of the caregiver. "Achilles' heel, formed or even

剖析三大情況

- ① 孩子本性
- ② 行為動機
- ③ 行為表現

1) Goof intentions, Wrong actions

Before parents deal with their children's inappropriate behaviour, they may wish to calmly analyse the three situations: the child's nature, behavioural motivations, and behavioural performance. For example, My brother is kind-hearted and loves his sister very much, but one day, his sister broke his father's vase, and his brother told his father that it was a tabby cat that broke it. In such a situation, it is easy for parents to accuse their brother of lying and beat him without any explanation. However, the parents are dealing with it. They can say to the brother: "I know that you also like your sister (you understand your motive to protect your sister), but your father does not agree with your lying, which prevents your sister from receiving the blame she deserves (you do not agree with your brother) Instead, you should set an example and encourage your sister to admit her mistakes and learn how to bear the consequences. Only in this way can you help your sister (teach your children the correct behaviour)!]

2) Crying instead of expressing

Of course, for toddlers, the ability to express themselves is not enough; they will naturally use emotional behaviour to tell people some messages, for example: in a fast-food restaurant, children want to eat chicken legs, they may not use words to express but will primitively use crying to fight Need: "I want! I want it right away!" If the parents ask him to shut up immediately, the child may cry even harder! Suppose parents are afraid of embarrassment in full view of the public. In that case, they might as well hold their child away in a quiet corner nearby, ignore him in a safe situation, let him cry as much as he can, and give him a clear behavioural message--crying is not allowed. If they succeed, parents do not need to constantly blame, explain, and appease their children when they are angry...! When the child stops crying, parents can teach the child: "What you want, you can tell the mother directly, instead of rolling in the street crying!. I said, this time out, just eat sandwiches! Do you still want to eat now? If we eat, we return to the restaurant, if we don't eat, we go home!] (Parents stick to principles)

拒絕哭鬧代替表達

- ① 帶孩子在安靜角落 任由他哭鬧

拒絕哭鬧代替表達

- ② 教導孩子哭鬧是 不能得逞

拒絕哭鬧代替表達

- ③ 堅持原則

3) Teasing emotions can succeed

Parents carefully consider whether their children will habitually use the wild to gain benefits or avoid taking responsibility. I will work immediately. Or the child requests to play with the mobile phone before he is willing to eat, once the parents take away the phone, the child will cry and scold endlessly; the parents are afraid that his hunger affects his health, even if the mind somehow understand that this should not be, action again hand over the phone, has told the child: "Just screw up. Understand that it is human nature to tease a child when he is unhappy. In such a situation, parents might as well give him time and space to be quiet. When the child calms down, remember to ask him to do what he needs to do. For example, pack your toys, sit down, and eat alone.

拒絕鬧情緒得逞

- 1 先給孩子時間和空間安靜

拒絕鬧情緒得逞

- 2 冷靜下來後要求他做剛才要做的事

4) The end of long neglect

Perhaps some parents love their children so much that they do not regard their children's behaviour as inappropriate but instead blame others for their incompetence. The improper behaviour of parents who ignore their children for a long time will only affect their growth throughout their lives, and their future growth will be even more bumpy and difficult! Some parents have no time to discipline their children because of their mouths or feel helpless about their daily inappropriate behaviour, helpless plus numbness and no longer pay attention to, let him become worse, in addition to "parenting" lack, children may even take advantage Inappropriate behaviour and manipulating those around you, doing whatever you want!

Sometimes, parents are inadvertently captured by their children in their parents' "weaknesses" fear of affecting their health, fear of their child being unhappy, fear of public embarrassment! In addition, as children grow up, they will absorb the "essence of the sun and moon" from their parents - their parents' treatment of others, values, discipline attitudes and techniques, the struggle between family members, children see it all! So before disciplining their children, parents try to calm down and consider whether people around them inadvertently boost their child's stubbornness and make him a "little bully"?
